

TERRITORY MANAGER ÖSTERGÖTLAND - OSTOMY CARE

Posted on 21 september, 2022

Company Name Kebomed

Location Östergötland

Job Description

Do you want a job that really affects people's lives? Do you want to give people with very personal and private medical conditions access to innovative and market-leading products that make their life easier? Do you want to work at one of the world's best performing medical device companies? If you can answer YES to the above and feel strongly about taking the next step in your career, then this could be the perfect opportunity for you.

As Territory Manager, you work with creating and developing business in close collaboration with customers within ostomy care. Important target groups are ostomy nurses, healthcare professionals at surgical clinics, district nurses in primary care and other relevant clinics in both inpatient and outpatient care.

You will play an important role in the ongoing transition to increase our partnership and to be recognized with high knowledge by the customers. You will be part of the Swedish sales team and report to the Regional Sales Manager. Preferred place of residence is in the region of Östergötland. You will be expected to travel and stay overnight on occasional basis.

Main tasks and responsibilities:

- Drive sales development in your district according to the current business plan
- Responsible for preparing and regularly updating district plans with a clear activity plan based on customer needs
- Ensure that the sales process progresses in a timely manner regarding all customers, launches and focus areas
- Plan and carry out training for healthcare professionals and end users, alone or together with the responsible healthcare professional.
- Provide service around Coloplast's product portfolio of ostomy products to customers to achieve the goals.

Are you the one we are looking for?

We are looking for a driven Salesperson with excellent personal and professional skills, who is ambitious and motivated to work with high quality products. You have a good ability to plan and prioritize your work and a natural talent and drive to building strong relationships with new and existing customers. You will be expected to travel and stay overnight on occasional basis.

Qualifications:

- Academic education, preferably a nursing degree or relevant work experience
- Experience from sales within healthcare not mandatory, but considered advantageous
- Ambitious and passionate about driving Coloplast sales development in the district
- High collaborative skills and flexibility
- Energetic with a 'can-do' attitude
- Driving license
- Good knowledge of Microsoft Office applications incl. Word, Excel, and PowerPoint as well as CRM systems
- Excellent skills in Swedish and able to communicate in English

What we offer

You get the opportunity to work in an important therapy area at a successful and growing company that provides products, which make life significantly easier and smoother for the user. Coloplast is a market leading MedTech company with a high rate of innovation, where good service spirit is natural and a must. You have great freedom under the responsibility to plan and set up your work for you to achieve your set goals.
